Thank you for attending and we hope you had a terrier-ific day with us!

The Jack Russell Terrier Museum & Crawford Library documents and displays the history and heritage of the Jack Russell Terrier. It is currently located in Monkton, Maryland, adjacent to the JRTCA home office, and visitors are welcome.

The mission of the Museum is to preserve the unique Jack Russell Terrier, to prevent change to this amazing little white dog that so far has survived physical and mental changes brought about by kennel club type showing, and to educate the general public about the TRUE Jack Russell Terrier. It has remained the feisty little white hunting terrier that was bred to bolt foxes more than 200 years ago.

With today's confusion brought about by the kennel club "variants" of our breed, this is more important than ever. Educating the general public, and all those interested in this terrier, is critical to its survival.

With the help of all true Jack Russell enthusiasts, we can continue to build and maintain this wonderful tribute to our breed, and to Mrs. Ailsa Crawford, whose foresight in forming the JRTCA and its registry were instrumental in the terrier's preservation. Our next step is to work on finding a permanent home for the Museum and the JRTCA, a true Jack Russell Terrier Homestead.

The Museum operates strictly on donations and obtaining a permanent Homestead will also depend on donations to make that happen. ALL donations, small or large, are greatly appreciated and will help us achieve our goals.

If you would like to help in any way, please stop in and see us at the trial, visit our web site, or call any board member listed or the office! It is a great project and needs your support! The Museum is incorporated as a 501(c)(3), your donations are tax deductible! Visit our web site at www.jackrussellterriermuseum.com.

THANK YOU!
